

Ritual & Prayer Resources for Aged Care & Hospital Ministry

Casual Content Creators

What are we about?

Liturgy Ritual Prayer is expanding its online resources ministry into Catholic aged care and hospitals. Within the aged care and hospital sectors, Lazaretto will provide ritual and prayer resources to support chaplains, pastoral care workers and hospital staff. Resources for formation, professional learning and ongoing faith formation will also be key features in what this ministry offers subscribers.

Who are we looking for?

We have a position available for a creative content writer who has experience in developing liturgy, prayer and ritual resources covering various aspects of religious belief, spirituality, phases of life-journey and the process of ageing.

These resources will be available and distributed to those who are connected to aged care and hospitals; from residents and caregivers to nurses and medical staff.

The successful person will be comfortable in writing openly and honestly, be captivating in their written word and be aware that their resources will have significant impact.

What do we offer?

This will be a rewarding ministry, providing support and comfort to people at critical stages in their life-journey. As this is a casual position, remuneration will be based on the content produced. Writing will be done remotely so time management is the responsibility of the successful applicants.

How to apply?

Please submit your application comprising of a cover letter introducing yourself and your suitability for the position, current resume with references and where possible, examples of your previous written work.

Applications are now open!
